How is our process different?

The Normal Problematic Process

The conventional approach to interiors consists of multiple firms collaborating on the design with a variety of sub-contractors handling the estimating, construction, and installation. This complicated process requires the alliance of firms with naturally conflicting interests.

Designs are usually changed and re-quoted numerous times; the process breeds miscommunication, mistakes and cost overruns.

Our Streamlined Process

With Method-1, one company handles everything. The same firm that designed your interior also fabricates and installs it.

Our designers understand the fabrication process. We eliminate cost overruns by designing to your budget and giving you a firm, fixed price.

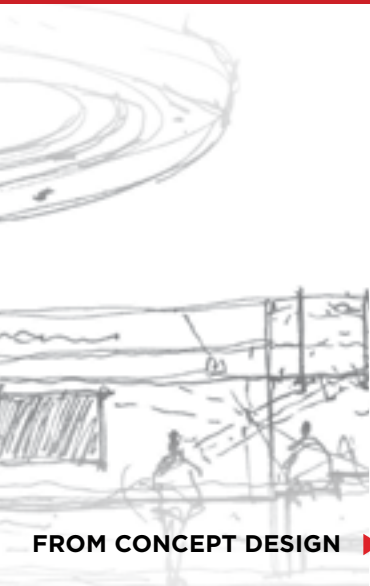

The Method-1 Process has made this dream a reality by using our integrated team of professionals who all work under the same roof.
